The PIANOLA.

Its Enormous Value to a Business Man.

A famous physician recently said that every business man of today should cultivate a hobby.

This is because the brain cells, on whose health his whole business success depends, only get rest when his mind is concentrated on something outside his usual channels of thought.

Playing a Pianola is an engrossing and fascinating pastime. Its great therapeutic value has been testified to by thousands of business men. Besides, the whole family enjoy it.

At a recent meeting of Unity Council. No. 2. Independent Order Sons of Jonadab, at Melford's Hall, 8th and I streets northeast, the reports of the officers for the quarter ended September 30 were read and approved, showing an increase in the membership and a substantial balance in the treasury. The committee on entertainment and dance reported progress, as did the committee on lapel buttons. An application for membership was received and farorably acted upon.

The installation of officers-elect for the ensuing term was referred until the next meeting, owing to the absence of the grand vitation he spoke encouragingly of the good accomplished by the order, and called upon Worthy Chief-elect Richard Bowman, who responded with a narrative describing his recent horseback ride with a detach-ment of the D. MEETING OF GOOD TEMPLARS. Semi-Annual Celebration by Star of Hope Lodge, No. 23. Star of Hope Lodge, No. 23, Independent Order of Good Templars, held its semi-annual celebration recent'y at 643 Louisiana avenue northwest, Capt. Robert H. Woods acting as master of ceremonies. The hall was taxed to its full capacity, many being obliged to take seats in the anteroom-and on the stairway.

One of the most attractive features of the program was a flute selo, by Chief Templar Henderson of Fidelity Lodge, Bethesda, Md., who also entertained the guests with many amusing anecdotes. Dr. Charles G. McCallion of the Department of Agriculture, recited humorous selections, which elicited much applause. The presiding officer explained the nature of the celebra-tion, and then called on Miss Agnes Mc-Nulty, an accomplished young girl of thir-teen years, who recited "Dress and Drink," and sang "Father, Dear Father, Come Home With Me Now." On a second encore she gave "Somebody Waiting for Some-body." When she had taken her seat her nine-year-old brother, Joseph A. McNulty, was called to the stage and delivered an ex hortation to young boys and girls, urging them to "join this great order and stick to the pledge." On being vigorously encored he sang "Little Baby Bunting," and was again called to the floor for "The U.S.A." Miss Lottie Lewis of the Juvenile Templars gave a recitation and received great ap-

The chairman then called on P. J. Mac-Manus to speak on the "Good Templar Or-der." Mr. MacManus said the members had great cause for rejoicing over the grand record it had made in reforming and reclaiming mankind. He complimented Chief Templar John C. Foster on the prog-ress which has been made by Star of Hope Lodge under his administration.
"To those of our visiting friends who are not members of this order," continued Mr.

the largest temperance fraternity in the world, with considerably over half a million members and over 12,000 branches. The greatest achievement of the order has been the reclamation of the intemperate, but apart from that it fortifies and encourages those who are already total abstainers and makes special provision for the protection and care of the young. No sensible father or mother would discourage total absti-nence in children and should be proud to see them members of this order."
The final address was delivered by Counsellor J. A. Clark, who took a prominent part in the Georgia prohibition campaign. Mr. Clark's tribute to temperance and his pathetic description of the broken-hearted mother mourning the downfall of a drunken son as he stood on the scaffold made a deep impression. "Your princi-pels," he said, "are like the lights placed "Your princion the rocks to warn the tempest-tossed mariner against the perils of the deep. Car you really understand fully the grandeur of your cause? Giving candid expression to my feelings, I say that it is inspiring to see so many young ladies coming here to pay respectful homage to the greatness of the cause and to encourage your officers in the discharge of their duties. The temperance movement is second only to that of the church." The following committee distributed ice cream and cake to the guests: Miss Agnes Ward, Miss King, Miss Day and Messrs. J. C. Foster, Thomas A. Fitzgerald and John Woodland.

News of Congress Heights.

At a meeting of the Congress Heights Public Improvement Association last evening a letter was read from Commissioner Macfarland announcing his acceptance of chief. The council then opened under an invitation to be present at a meeting "good of the order." Mr. J. T. Farr was to be held the evening of October 18. A invited to preside, and in accepting the in- reception committee was appointed as follows: George W. Kennedy, H. L. Barnes, Edward J. Newcomb, Rev. William Brayshaw and Robert H. Cowan.

It was decided to have an open session in the town hall, to which all the citizens and the ladies of their families are to be invited. The association voted to provide music and refreshments for the evening. Dr. Arthur N. Meloy, one of the vice presidents of the East Washington Heights Citizens' Association, was a visitor and made an address. The condition of the roads and gutters around the town having been made a subject of complaint by sev-eral members of the association, the matter was referred to the highway committee for action. Rev. William Brayshaw, H. L. Seivers and Arthur N. Maley were admitted to membership.

The third anniversary of Camp No. 8. Patriotic Order of Americans, was cele-brated in the town hall Thursday evening last. The exercises began with the singing of "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," in clorus. Mrs. Scaggs, the district president, then made an address. A quartet, composed of Messrs. Vining, Pierce, M. J. Fillius and Samuel Hind rendered several selections. Others who contributed to the program were Mrs. Charles Palmer, piano solo; Miss Jennie Padgett, recitation; Mrs. Townsend, solo; Miss Bessie Pierce, recitation; Mr. Raymond Fillius, solo; Miss Estelle Brown, The program was followed by refreshments and dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Langley gave t birthday party to their daughter. Miss Ella Langley, Tuesday evening last at the family home, 6th street, Congress Heights.

Quarterly Conference Held. The second quarterly conference of Met-

MORE DISCRIMINATION ALLEGED Railways Charged With Favoring the Creamery Trust.

Independent creamery companies of Iowa Nebraska, Wyoming and adjoining states that recently filed complaints against railroads traversing that section of the country and carrying their product to Chicago, have again brought their case to the interstate alleged that the rates fixed by the railroad companies were such as to permit the de ivery of cream and butter in Chicago so as to faver the so-called creamery trust which shipped its cream to Chicago and manufactured butter of it there as against the butter made farther west and shipped in that form to the same place.

That complaint is still pending before the commission, and will be acted upon by that body this fall. Now the independent creamery companies have brought a petition to commission which alleges that these railroads, in retaliation for the act of the independent creameries, have combined to put up many other rates in the territory in which they are operating. They claim that the entire business of that section is being injured by this combination to put up rates, and their industry in particular will be badly affected.

DIETZ. In sad but loving remembrance of our darling daughter, LEONA E, DIETZ, who en-tered into eternal rest three years ago today -October 5, 1904.

When everything seemed so bright, Our darling Leona was called away Out of our mortal sight.

sever,
Yet tears of remembrance for thee shall renew
The love I'll cherish forever and ever
Wherever I wander, dearest Leona, for you.

BY HER SISTER, MRS. FRED G. STEIN

Within our peaceful, sheltered home,
. Where all was bright and warm.
Was one preparing to go forth,
But not into the storm.

And from our love and from our grief And from our dwelling warm, le bore our Susie in his arms, But not into the storm.

And the sweet word she left for us Shall our life's watchword be: "As I have followed Jesus' steps, Mamma, papa, follow me." And precious to our hearts

Wasted and wan we laid her down, Worn out with inortal strife, But fair and glorious Susie shall rise To glad eternal life. BY MOTHER, FATHER, SISTERS, BROTHERS, > Gone, but not forgotten. May his soul rest in peace. MRS. B. DICKINSON.

In memory we ofttimes see
The one we loved so dear;
The vision grows so clear sometimes
We feel she must be near. But, no! Three years ago today

Thou hast given. Thou hast taken-Blessed Lord, Thy will be done. MAMMA AND PAPA. Farewell: we must part, and the links of love

LUCAS. In sad but loving remembrance of SUSIE R. LUCAS, wife of William F. Lucas, and beloved daughter of Susanna and Fred-erick Kettner, who died one year ago today— October 5, 1906.

We gathered round our darling's bed, To catch her parting breath, But one stood nearer to her heart; We knew his name was Death.

Shall be that sacred stot, While by the Lord she loved so well It will not be forgot.
